CITY COMMISSION MAKES BUDGET FOR 1928 ASSESSMENT

Ticket Closes For Florida's Ballot Battle; Republicans Seeking Six State Offices

Formation of the Florida national and state ticket for the coming general election has been definitely shaped by the secretary of state with the single exception of the office of state treasurer.

The time limit for all parties to qualify candidates for the election was reached Sunday night. With its expiration came the formal official withdrawal of additional entrants of the Republican party, leaving only six Republican candidates whose names will be placed on the ticket, in addition to the presidential electors.

The six offices for which the Republicans still contend are one seat in the United States senate, governor, state treasurer and three seats in congress.

Withdrawal of Republican candidates for various state offices resulted in the virtual election of the following Democratic candidates:

Secretary of State, H. Clay Crawford, Tallahassee; comptroller, Ernest Amos, Milton; commissioner of agriculture, Nathan Mayo, Summerfield; superintendent of public instruction, W. B. Caverton, Tallahassee; attorney general, Fred H. Davis, Tallahassee; justices of the Florida supreme court, Armstrong Brown, Miami, and L. W. Strum, Jacksonville; railroad commissioner, A. S. Wells, Tallahassee, (full term); and Mrs. R. L. Eaton, Monticello, (unexpired term); and congress, third district, Tom A. Yon, Tallahassee. All are the incumbents.

Three Seek Treasurer's Job

The secretary of state, who is certifying to all counties the formation of the ticket as far as the qualifications to his office indicated, could not include the office of state treasurer except to the extent of sending the name of F. A. Stroup of Kissimmee, as Republican candidate.

John C. Lansing of Leesburg, was nominated by the Democratic party in the June primary, but died a short time ago. Two candidates for his office are definitely in the field for the Democratic party. They are H. Hudson Burr, of Miami, and W. V. Knott of Tallahassee, the incumbent, who was appointed by Governor Martin to serve in the place of Mr. Lansing until a successor is qualified. Mr. Burr and Mr. Knott are qualifying with the counties.

The other offices will be printed on the ballots as follows:

United States senator, Democrat: Park Trammell, Lakeland; Republican: Barclay H. Warburton, Palm Beach.

Governor, Democrat, Doyle E. Carlton, Tampa; Republican, W. J. Howey, Hialeah-in-the-Hills.

Congress, first district, Democrat: Herbert J. Drane, Lakeland; Republican: Albert Brown, Ft. Pierce; second district, Democrat: R. A. Green, Stuart; Republican: T. P. Chaires, Old Town; fourth district, Democrat: Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, Miami; Republican, William C. Larson, Orlando.

The tickets also will contain the names of 24 presidential electors, representing the Democratic, Republican, Socialist and Communist parties respectively in the order named.

Their names follow:

Democrat, Clyde W. Atkinson, Tallahassee; Sam Landrum Cawthon, DeFuniak Springs; S. W. Deese, Immokalee; J. Walker, Keho, Miami; Robert C. Parker, Tallahassee; Stephen M. Sparkman, St. Tampa.

Republican Edwin W. Abbott, Bert Leigh, Acker, Robert D. Albrich, George S. Ames, Herbert L. Anderson and Katherine E. Anderson, none of whose addresses were given in the certification to the secretary of state.

Socialist: Edmund A. Buckland, Andrew Lindgren, Minnie W. Rutherford, George B. Bander, I. H. Lise, Non Duffe and John Womslay. No addresses given.

Communist: J. A. Adams, D. L. Albrich, Walter S. Peck, Peyton C. Rogers, A. Spierack and Talmage W. Vaux. No addresses given.

PROMINENT VISITORS PRESENT AT I. O. O. F. MEETING TUESDAY

The members of the I. O. O. F. lodge met at the Old Fellows Hall on New York avenue and Eleventh street, Tuesday evening, October 9th, for the purpose of installing a secretary and a treasurer to fill the unexpected vacancies. Tom Summers was installed as treasurer and Frederic Stevens as secretary.

There were thirty-six visitors from Orlando, Kissimmee and Sanford, a number of whom gave short talks.

After the business for the evening was over the crowd gathered in the banquet hall, where refreshments were served.

ST. CLOUD TO PLAY MONTVERDE TEAM TOMORROW

The local football team got off with a bad start last Friday, and were defeated by the Winter Garden team 12 to 7. However, that was no disgrace. If everybody will support the team through defeat as well as in victory, everything will come out all right in the end.

Next Friday afternoon, October 12th, we play Montverde here on the local field. Let all the football fans come out and support the home boys, not only Friday, but throughout the season. No team can win all the games, but any team can win more games when everybody is "boasting" for them, than when everybody is "knocking" them.

Be a booster all the time for everything that is good. The game with Montverde will be called Friday at 4:00 p. m. on the American Legion field, east of the city limits. Come one, come all! And enjoy a good game.

MISSOURIAN SAYS SENTIMENT IS FOR HOOVER IN NORTH

Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Boisseau, of Warrensburg, Mo., arrived in St. Cloud this week for their sixth winter. They are stopping at the Carr residence on Pennsylvania avenue.

Mr. Boisseau, who has had considerable active experience in the politics of his home state, says that the general outlook is that Hoover will be the choice for president in Missouri.

Keep this date open—Monday evening, 8:00 o'clock at the Tourist Club House. A red hot farm meeting and joint debate on beans and strawberries.

JUDGE SMITH DENIES MANDAMUS WRIT IN ELECTION CASE

According to attorneys interested in the case, Judge Frank A. Smith, of the seventeenth Judicial Circuit Court, today will sign an order denying a writ of mandamus to compel the county canvassing board of Osceola county to recanvass and certify to the nomination of different candidates in commissioners district No. 1, 4 and 5, from those certified by the canvass made just after the primary election.

In this case the contention was made that a special law purporting to be a general statute failed to be properly passed by the legislature of 1927, wherein Osceola county demonstrators were required to nominate the county commissioners and members of the school board by a vote in all precincts, instead of nominating them by the votes of the district they were to represent. In the districts named three other persons carried their individual districts, but in the county vote as a whole they were shown defeated. If the law was improperly passed it was contended that the district method of nominations should have been followed.

Denial of a writ of mandamus so close to the general election is thought to mean that no appeal can be acted on by the supreme court on the question of the validity of the special act in time to change any names now certified as nominees for commissioner.

DR. ANDREWS' TOPICS NEXT SUNDAY TO BE INTERESTING

Dr. O. M. Andrews, pastor of the First Methodist church, will introduce a political note into his services next Sunday by delivering two sermons on much-mooted subjects of the day. His morning sermon will be on "St. Cloud's Greatest Need," and at his evening service he will have as his subject, "The Attitude of the Church Press toward the Political Question." The two sermons promise much of general interest and it is expected that there will be large audiences at both discussions. But for the unexpected arrival last Sunday, of Dr. James, director of the Board of Education, and Dr. A. J. Price, district superintendent, who occupied the pulpits that day, Dr. Andrews would have delivered these two messages.

President C. C. Pike Calls Meeting of Chamber of Commerce For Tuesday

President C. C. Pike has called a meeting of the St. Cloud Chamber of Commerce for Tuesday evening, October 10th, at 7 o'clock, at the Chamber of Commerce room in the Hunter Arms Hotel building. This will be the first meeting of the commerce body since the summer's vacation, and will include the usual luncheon at a nominal charge per plate.

President Pike states that this is the opportune time for the organization to get busy again, as we are nearing the tourist season and letters are being received daily asking for information regarding St. Cloud and vicinity.

An effort is being made to secure Parson Webb, of the Orlando chamber of commerce as the guest speaker of the evening. Those who heard Parson Webb speak before the organization last winter, will remember that his remarks contained a world of wholesome advice for the advancement of the community spirit, and he will doubtless have a message worthwhile on this occasion. Mr. Wolking, the new city manager, and the new members of the city commission, will also be present.

Among the important matters that will come up for discussion will be plans for the entertainment of our tourists this season. The city's financial condition is such that little assistance can be expected from that source, so plans for entertainment must be worked out in other ways. Many good suggestions have already been made along this line, and those who have plans to offer are urged to present them for discussion next Tuesday evening.

Another matter to be taken up at the meeting on Tuesday evening will be the nomination of officers for the chamber of commerce for the coming year. The nominations received will be over until the next regular meeting, when the regular annual election will be held.

It is urged that all business men and all citizens interested in the welfare of our community attend the meeting and endeavor to restore the splendid community spirit that has been enjoyed in the past. A committee of ladies will have charge of the selling of tickets for the luncheon, or they can be secured at Pike's Studio. It is requested that tickets be secured by Monday, in order that preparation may be made to serve all who desire to attend.

St. Cloud To Become Farming Center; Enthusiasm Shown at Meeting Monday

The meeting of the tourist club house last Tuesday, for the purpose of promoting agriculture and developing the back country in the vicinity of St. Cloud, proved a grand success. The only disappointment was in the number in attendance. There were only about fifty present. It was decided, after the meeting was called to order to adjourn until Monday evening owing to the fact that Mr. Quinn and Mr. Geiger, both agricultural experts, were unable to be present. About the time they were to adjourn a real "pop" meeting spontaneously broke loose. Mr. Hood, T. G. Moore, L. M. Parker and others made addresses that caused all present to realize and understand that we are on the very verge of an extensive trucking and farming activity in our midst.

About five years ago farming was well under way here. Farmers were organized and ordered seed potatoes and fertilizer by car loads. Many acres were farmed to strawberries and many pony refrigerators of strawberries, the finest every grown anywhere, were packed on our railroad platform and shipped to northern markets. Then came the calamity. The real estate boom came upon us almost overnight. "Why farm five or ten years to get rich when one could get rich in five to ten days selling St. Cloud property?" In thirty days after the boom struck no one remembered that farming had ever been attempted. Those tilling the soil took off their overalls and slipped on to checkered knickerbockers; junked their old farms and purchased, on time, businesses, thus emerging from the ranks of the farmer to those of plutocrats.

It was urged at this meeting that there was but one salvation for the immediate future of our city, that was back-country development. The productive power of our soil has been proven beyond doubt. The only remaining element is to get back of the program with enough dynamite to put it over.

It was suggested that the population of St. Cloud and community could be doubled in three years. That we would not only be benefited by reason of the farming activity but that our taxable property would be thereby doubled thus decreasing taxation by one-half. It was plainly to be seen that there was a bunch of boasters who had not the slightest doubt about the complete success of the enterprise. As to the extent of the success no one can tell. It depends wholly on the co-operation given by the entire citizenry. Every one can lend to, or detract from, the enterprise as he feels inclined. Surely, no one would put the smallest block in the path of progress.

There is to be another meeting Monday night at 8:00 o'clock at the tourist club house in city park and it is expected that the balloon will ascend.

One of the attractions will be a de-

Evening Agriculture Class

The Monday evening agriculture class will meet next Monday, October 10th, at the Club House in the city park. We will join with the meeting there which is of an agricultural nature. I consider this meeting a very important one, and I am sure we will all get some good from it. Let everybody in the community who is interested in agriculture be present at the meeting Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

A. J. GEIGER, Agriculture Instructor, St. Cloud High School.

late between Mr. M. A. Hood and L. M. Parker on the question, "Are beans a more profitable crop for our farmers to raise than strawberries?" Mr. Hood representing the affirmative. Other able speakers will be present and some definite action will be taken relative to the farm enterprise. The club house should be packed to the limit at this time. The farming season is upon us. All activities should sidestep until this project is well under way. Come on, let's go!

T. G. Moore also announced that he had secured the consent of the State authorities to seine the lake and remove all food fish such as catfish, gar, etc., and re-stock the lake, provided the people of the city desired it. Action on this matter will be taken up at the adjourned meeting.

A THRILLING FILM OF HISTORICAL VALUE COMING TO PALM

St. Cloud Theatre guests will have an opportunity Friday and Saturday of this week to see one of the most thrilling chapters of the days of the early settlers in the west in the big frontier epic "General Custer at the Little Big Horn." This is a feature picture, and should not be confused with short subjects of similar name which have been shown before.

The story of General George A. Custer in the stirring times in Montana from 1879 to 1878 in the theme of the picture. More than 2000 people appear in the cast, including large numbers of Indians. This story of bravery, bravery, and pioneering, will be liked by all classes of film fans as it has an abundance of thrills, portrays an interesting chapter of American history, and has a beautiful love theme throughout. There will be the usual Saturday afternoon matinee, with two night shows on both Friday and Saturday. There will be no advance in prices.

Valuation of Taxable Property Is Placed at $3,821,344.00

The City Commission of the City of St. Cloud, in a recessed session of their regular meeting, held last Monday afternoon, took up the matter of a budget for the 1928 assessment of taxes. The assessed valuation of all taxable property in the city was shown to be $3,821,344.00 by the records of the city tax assessor. After consultation with Messrs. Robison, Wheeler and Woody, bond committee, and City Manager Wolking, the City Commission placed the tax to be assessed at 34 mills.

City Manager Wolking states that the assessment for the actual running expenses of the city is lower than has been levied for some years in the past. However, the increased millage has been made necessary in order to take care of the large number of past due accounts, time warrants, borrowed money, etc., outstanding from the past city administration, and for the interest and sinking fund of the city's bonded indebtedness.

POPULARITY CONTEST AT PALM ATTRACTS ATTENTION

The Palm Theatre popularity contest which began Wednesday of last week is attracting widespread attention among the people of St. Cloud and vicinity, a great many of whom have not before realized that only the latest and best of pictures are being shown by St. Cloud's only theatre.

The Palm Theatre is offering to the winners of its popularity contest very valuable and desirable prizes.

A new Ford roadster, bought from the St. Cloud Motor Co., a fine Capehart electric refrigerator and the latest model Atwater Kent radio, bought from the Crawford Electric Shop, are prizes well worth winning.

The votes by which this popularity contest election will be decided and the wonderful prizes awarded are absolutely free. It does not cost the patrons of the Palm Theatre anything extra to vote for their favorite nor is there any increase in the admissions.

The vote standings of the various contestants are being shown on the screen and some other novelties will be introduced later on. This contest bids fair to become one of the most interesting events in the social life of St. Cloud and it is not surprising that interest in it is developing rapidly.

The contest headquarters office, has been opened at the theatre and will be open afternoon and evenings. Everyone is invited to call there for information.

Some twenty of the most popular persons in St. Cloud have already been covered by their friends.

ORLANDO FIREWORKS SEEN FROM ST. CLOUD FRIDAY

Several citizens of St. Cloud who reside on the Lakefront, Boulevard report having seen the fireworks display, which marked the closing of the big airport celebration in Orlando last Friday evening.

The distance from St. Cloud to Orlando via air route must be between 15 and 20 miles, but the colored rockets, bombs, etc., could be clearly seen across East Lake Tohopekalza. One feature, which is believed to have been a flare used to light the landing field by plane when making night landings, lighted up the entire lakefront for several minutes.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS INITIATE FRESHMAN

The members of the St. Cloud high school student body gave a picnic at Alligator Lake last Friday evening, the occasion being the initiation of the Freshman.

The crowd met at the school house at 4:30 o'clock and motored to Alligator Lake where the Freshmen were put through the regular forms of initiation at the conclusion of which the picnic supper was spread.

OFFICIAL VISIT TO WINTER PARK

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Cowger, of St. Cloud, and Mrs. J. L. Overstreet, of Kissimmee, attended the meeting of Pioneer Chapter Order Eastern Star at Winter Park last Thursday evening. Mrs. Cowger, who is Grand Instructor for the Thirteenth District, made her official visit to the Winter Park Chapter.

Official Minutes

The city commission met in regular meeting at 10:00 a. m. Oct. 8, 1928. Present: Mayor-Commissioner Chase, Commissioners Wiley and Ferguson, also City Manager Wolking. The meeting was called to order by Mayor-Commissioner Chase. Minutes of previous meetings were read and approved. WHO DRIVES THE SCHOOL BUS?

With the opening of schools this month thousands of children will start their daily trips to and from the consolidated schools by motor bus. In order that these children may meet with no mishap, and above all, that they shall not be subjected to danger at railroad crossings, it should be the first duty of their parents and of the school authorities, to see that the driver of the school buses are reliable men of mature years, long experience and good judgment.

Investigations of an accident which occurred last winter, brought out the fact that the driver was an eighteen year old boy who had not taken ordinary precautions to make sure no train was coming before crossing the railroad track. In some cases the driver is one of the older school children; in others the helper at the entrance of the person to whom the contract is let.

A tremendous responsibility rests upon these drivers. They are entrusted with the safety of as many as 20 or 30 children. The trip to and from the school must be made in all kinds of weather. When it is raining there is a temptation to put up storm curtains which prevents the driver from having a clear view on either side. The desire to be on time for school or to hurry home afterwards, leads to a tendency to take chances that are little short of criminal.

Unless the driver of the school bus is fully aware of his responsibility and fully capable of meeting any emergency which may arise, accidents are likely to happen which will strike at the heart of every family with children of school age.

To guard against the possibility of such a catastrophe every known safety measure should be enforced. The greatest care should be taken to see that the buses are in good mechanical condition and frequent inspections for this purpose should be made by the proper authorities.

The selection of the driver should not be left to the person to whom the contract for providing transportation is let. If this method is used, while he should be required to demonstrate his ability to handle the bus that is used, this is only one qualification to be taken into account, and his reputation for steadiness and good judgment should be the determining factor. No school boy, garage helper or village loafer should be chosen for the job merely because he can operate the bus and will do so at little cost. The person chosen should be placed under bond for compliance with all state laws and with such regulations as the local commissioners shall put into effect regarding the transportation of school children.

Above all things drivers of school buses should be required to stop before crossing a railroad track.

No matter how much time it may cost, no matter how stormy the weather, no matter whether the train is due, the school bus should be stopped at every crossing and the driver should be required to make sure that no train is coming. The observance of this simple rule will do away with disastrous accidents at railroad crossings.

Every time this precaution is omitted there is a chance that every child in the bus may be killed or maimed. It is too late after such an accident, to say, "I didn't think a train was coming" or "I didn't see or hear a train," or "No train was due."

The only way is to stop and make sure.

It takes a sober minded, sensible man, with a full realization of his responsibility to do this day in and day out. But such a man is the only kind that thinking parents should entrust with the lives of their children. Atlantic Coast Line Bulletin.

WANTS TO DIVIDE THE STATE

The Florida Protective Tariff League has issued a bulletin outlining a plan to divide the state on the north line of Volusia, Lake, Marion and Levy counties, and divide the southern thirty-four counties with 561,000 population the right to call itself Florida, while the thirty-three counties of the south with 725,000 population will take the name of south Florida. The promoters overlook the fact that congress has a good deal to say about making new states and increasing the membership of that body now already too large.

DISCUSSION OF FLORIDA IS NEEDED IN PUBLIC SCHOOL

The ignorance of the average Floridian with relation to Florida is as refreshing as it is appalling. If one were to ask a group of ten persons how many counties the State possesses it is doubtful if more than one could supply the information. If one informed the average Floridian that the present postoffice building in a Florida city was standing when Queen Elizabeth was on the throne of England and Shakespeare was a youth, even before the Dutch landed on Manhattan Island and years before Jamestown, Va., was settled, he would be laughed at, unless he happened to be in St. Augustine.

Every school teacher in Florida should devote a few minutes each day to the discussion of Florida for the benefit of her pupils. Textbooks on the subject are few and far between, but the daily newspapers, and the weeklies, never come from the presses without information which would go a long way toward interesting school children and, through the youngsters, their parents.

Rotary, Kiwanis, Civitan and other civic clubs which have a brief program after their weekly luncheons could do nothing better than adopt the practice of devoting five minutes of each program to a discussion of Florida, assigning to various members of the club the duty of preparing a brief talk on the State.

In Jacksonville recently the First Baptist Sunday School devoted its session to home missions. The program, in a large part, was devoted to the discussion of Florida, its geography, its history, its development and its industry and agriculture.

Floridians cannot learn too much about Florida.

PORTO RICO CITRUS CROP IS DESTROYED BY HURRICANE

JACKSONVILLE, Oct. 1.—United States Department of Commerce reports from Porto Rico declare no citrus fruit will be shipped from the island during the next eight months, according to reports received by the Florida State Chamber of Commerce. The recent hurricane, which struck Florida after crossing Porto Rico, literally wiped out the island's citrus crop.

The effect upon prices for Florida fruit this season will be considerable, says the Chamber. During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1928, Porto Rico shipped $50,000 boxes of grapefruit and $40,000 boxes of oranges, the bulk of the crop coming to the markets which Florida also serves. The disaster in Porto Rico removes Porto Rican grapefruit from the market this season and Florida will have a virtual monopoly. Besides the citrus damage in this State, Florida, with a record crop in sight before the hurricane, still has millions upon millions of boxes of grapefruit and oranges to be marketed, and it is to be expected, that the net profit will be greater than was anticipated before the storm.

CARELESS MOTORISTS TO BE HELD RESPONSIBLE FOR TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

The police department at DeLand has issued a ruling of interest to motorists throughout Florida, and one which might well be adopted universally in the state. Hereafter DeLand will hold that the motorist who fails to give a proper signal and make sure he has ample room and time to move into the traffic stream when leaving a parking place at the curb is responsible for any accident or damage he may cause to cars already in the traffic stream.

DeLand has had a number of minor accidents recently due to careless motorists who, leaving parking spaces, drive into the street in the path of oncoming traffic without giving a signal or ascertaining whether the course is clear. The situation came to a head a few days ago with the wrecking of a tour bus on a passing car by the bumper of a machine which hopped from the curb without its driver having determined whether the coast was clear. As usual there was a real argument—for the smaller the damage in an automobile crash the greater the argument—and Chief of Police Stone was forced to take a hand. When the dust settled the chief announced the new rule would be in effect hereafter. He cited two provisions of the municipal traffic code as authorizing him to take such a step.

Dear Miss Flo:

I am a young man of 22 and I am deeply in love with a lady of 27. This lady has been married before but is now divorced. She still keeps house for her former husband. I told her I love her dearly. She says she feels sorry for me, but her heart is broken and dead to love. Will you please advise me what to do? I can't seem to find another girl as I am afraid. I do want a sweetheart. I am always yearning for a sweetheart and I am starving for love. Please advise me how to find true love. Is it proper for a young man of 22 to love a divorcee of 27?

Please advise me as I am lovesick.

M. C. M.

Dear M. C. M., a woman such as you describe, who has had ill fortune, will respond readily to tenderness and love. Make a friend of her rather than constantly telling her of your affection, and she may come to care for you in time. It is perfectly proper for you to love her—why not? but when you start writing about your desire to find another girl right after telling me of your deep love for her, I begin to suspect that it is Love that you love, and not this particular lady. If so, if you simply want a sweetheart and don't care much who this sweetheart may be, why torment this lady who has evidently many troubles? It is not very pretty to make some one sorry for you.

It ought to be easy for you to meet lots of new girls. Just be social. Visit your friends often, join clubs, etc., and the right girl will come along before you know it. Don't sit around and mope and think about how lovesick you are. That attitude will never bring you the divine creature you are longing for!

Has Many Boy Friends

Dear Miss Flo:

I am seventeen years of age and have many boy friends. I like to go out with different ones but very recently I have been going steady with one certain boy who is three years my senior. I had not been going with him for a year, but our friendship has been renewed. Do you think I am too young to devote all my time to him? Is it right for me to go places with other boys?

LOVE BIRD

Dear Love Bird, the young man you write of seems to be making a captive love bird out of you, but certainly you oughtn't to devote all your time to him unless, of course, you love him very, very dearly. Still there is nothing about your letter to indicate that, so just try your wings and go places with other boys. Have as many friends as you can. If they are real, genuine, well-bred friends, I don't know why you should have to give up their company.

Two Girl Chums

Dear Miss Flo:

We are two girl chums of fourteen. We need advice. How old should a girl be before she has a steady sweetheart? Do you think a girl at the age of fourteen knows what true love is? Does jealousy always mean love? Especially if a man has been going with a girl for a year or over. What should a girl do to keep the boy she is going with from getting tired of her? How can a girl beat another girl's time with a boy? What should a girl do when her sweetheart goes with some other girl? Should a girl marry before she is eighteen? Do you think it possible for a boy to love you but still not want to go with you for some reason, such as thinking you are too young or he not love him or do not want to go with him?

PUZZLED

Dear Puzzle, you certainly ask many questions! There is no definite age when a girl should have a steady sweetheart. It depends on individual circumstances, but I am inclined to think fourteen is far too young. As to whether a girl of fourteen knows what true love is, of course, she does! Almost every girl of fourteen has experienced the love of a mother, and that is the real true love. Later in life you will seek in vain for the love that only a mother can give. The other love, that comes later, the love of a man, should not even be in your thoughts at fourteen!

But, of course, you should have plenty of friends, both boys and girls. To answer your other questions, jealousy does not always mean love; it is sometimes only the expression of a jealous nature; true jealousy is an element in many deep, real love affairs, but it is not necessarily a proof of love. The way to keep the interest of a boy is to be as nice as you can in every way—there is no other method. There is nothing definite to "do" when your sweetheart goes with another girl, you must either forgive him or forget him. Many girls have married before eighteen. This is a matter resting with the choice of the individual. As to the last question, yes. There are all sorts of misunderstandings in matters of the heart.

NO DANGER HURRICANE IN FLORIDA FROM NOV. TO JUNE

TROPICAL DISTURBANCE IN STATE DURING THOSE MONTHS UNHEARD OF, RECORDS REVEAL

Florida is free from the menace of hurricanes from November until June, A. J. Mitchell, meteorologist in charge of the state Jacksonville, Florida, for the past thirty-four years, asserted in discussing the peculiarities of the tropical storms which originate near the equator.

"A hurricane in Florida in the winter months is as much unheard of, relatively, as a snow storm in the Central West in the summer time," he said.

Mr. Mitchell, who was connected with the weather bureau here for six years before becoming meteorologist in charge of the state, asserted that no hurricane had ever been known in the state from November to June, and pointed over the records at the weather bureau to verify a remarkable memory.

Only once during the past forty years has there been a tropical disturbance of any nature in Florida in November, and that was one of an extremely minor nature a number of years ago and it occurred early in the month. Mr. Mitchell said. The storm to which he had reference did no material damage and was not classed as a hurricane.

"Any person who refrains from visiting Florida from November to June, basing his action on fear of tropical storms, is the laze," Mr. Mitchell said, adding that Florida's climate during that period is ideal and makes this state the winter playground of the nation.

"Talk of a hurricane in the winter and spring months in this state is preposterous," he declared.

Very few hurricanes sweep out of the West Indies in June and July, he said, and of those originating in the West Indies ocean in August and September, the principal hurricane months, few pass over Florida. Statistics at the bureau show a falling off in the number of hurricanes occurring in October, with those recorded listed during the early days of that month.

KENANSVILLE NEWS

Mr. H. V. Phillips, Mr. A. L. Whitener and Mrs. J. E. Walker were in Kissimmee on Tuesday.

Mr. T. T. Scott's family moved Tuesday and they are now located in their new home near the mill. We are glad to welcome these good folks and hope they will enjoy being here as much as we do having them.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Whitener have moved from Scott's quarters to Whitener. We are glad they are not leaving here.

Mrs. Roberta Lybass and Mrs. Dewey Tomassello motored to Kissimmee on pleasure and business.

C. V. Arnold and family came up Thursday from Lakewood to test out the road and find out if it would be possible to make the trip with the school bus. He said he thought he would try it Friday to give the children a start on this week. That road has been almost impassable to all but horse-back travelers. The county road hands have been working on it, but the foundation is not much to build on. We are in hopes we will get a road through to the county line some day.

Mr. Claud Johnson, of St. Cloud, was here Thursday. He is always a very welcome caller although he does not come often. We are always glad to see him.

Mr. Joe Johnson, county surveyor, of Kissimmee, was down here Thursday on business with County Commissioner. But Joe knows every body here so we take up lots of his time visiting with him. We are always glad to have him come and see us.

Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Batten have swapped their old Ford touring car for a new sedan, car which was delivered to them Wednesday, and they tried it out by a trip to Holopaw the same evening. Congratulations.

Bob Phillips is renovating his hotel building, new roofing, new interior finishing and a general renewing. Mr. J. Casey is expected the latter part of this week. Mr. Casey expects to put in a large stock of merchandise. Mrs. Haymon, Mr. Casey's sister, has charge until he arrives.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Thompson motored to Kissimmee Saturday.

Mrs. Randolph Young is visiting her sister, Mrs. P. E. Van de Sande in New Smyrna.

Mr. and Mrs. Haynes Booker, Mr. and Mrs. McEachern, of Apopka, were in town Sunday.

Rev. Whitworth preached a very strong sermon Sunday evening, which was enjoyed by a large congregation. B. Y. P. F. was well attended also.

Poles are being erected from the Oleander hotel in Eau Gallie to the toll house on the county bridge, by the Florida Power and Light Company of Melbourne, which is establishing a line that far. The electricity will furnish power for the draw and signal purposes as well as light for the toll house, says the Melbourne Times.

WHO'S WHO AMONG THE WINDS IS NOW SHOWN

NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC SOCIETY BULLETIN GIVES CHARACTERISTICS OF STORMS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—With a tornado devastating Middle Western states and a hurricane that swept over the West Indies, the National Geographic Society says:

A trade is a strong, straight wind. Whirlwind: An eddy of air which whisks up dust; or a stronger whirl of air such as that which strips leaves from a corn field and sends them hundreds of feet aloft.

Tornado: A violent, powerful whirlwind, covering a small area, that sucks up heavy objects or twists them from their moorings. Its vertical forces are more important than its horizontal ones.

Hurricane: A violent circular system of winds in the tropics and semitropics of the Atlantic and Caribbean, covering a considerable area and moving long distances.

These are the strongest of the predominantly horizontal winds. They are sucked toward a great central vortex. One hundred miles an hour is their usual maximum for the winds toward the center of circulation.

Typhoon: A hurricane in the tropical waters of the Pacific.

Waterspout: A tornado or violent whirlwind over water.

Cyclone: A commonly misused term. In popular parlance, any destructive wind is a "cyclone." Properly, a cyclone is a circular system of winds covering a great area (sometimes 1,000 miles across) and including gentle breezes as well as stiff winds.

Cyclones are beneficial rather than harmful. They give us most of our weather changes. Each "low" on the daily weather map has its cyclonic system of winds circulating around it. When Nature dips her spoon in the weather brew and stirs, the result is a cyclone.

NAMES ON BALLOTS MAY BE ARRANGED IN ANY DESIRED MANNER

TALLAHASSEE, Oct. 6.—County commissioners of Florida are at liberty to arrange the titles and names of candidates on the general election ballots in any manner, alphabetical or otherwise, Attorney General Fred H. Davis has held in an opinion rendered here.

Mr. Davis explained that he concurred in opinions of his predecessors to that effect.

The attorney general, however, said that it had been customary to arrange the names on the general election ballot grouped alphabetically according to party. In his opinion, if such an arrangement is ordered by the county commissioners, it would be entirely legal, he added.

Mr. Davis called attention to the necessity of specifying "unexpired" and "full" terms sought by the candidates, as in the case of Mrs. R. L. Eaton, of Monticello, Democratic nominee for the unexpired term of her deceased husband.

{The new Buick} is the new Style

Nowhere such beauty and luxury ---- nowhere such pleasing lines and contours ---- nowhere Bodies that equal these new Masterpiece Bodies by Fisher--The entire country is saying, "That's the Style"

Setting an entirely new, a revolutionary, style--introducing what will unquestionably be the trend of smart body-design during the next several years--the new Bodies of the Silver Anniversary Buick are enjoying universal acclaim as the most original and distinctive, as well as the finest and most beautiful ever created by the world-famous Fisher organization!

Here is not only a new car but a new vogue--a vogue of symmetry, born of graceful contours instead of straight lines--a vogue of distinction, derived from sparkling colors, brilliant chrome-plating and arresting new roof, radiator and fender design--a vogue of tasteful luxury, composed of finest mohair velvet upholstery, artistic hardware and fittings and new appointments of comfort and convenience.

The entire country is hailing the Silver Anniversary Buick. The entire country is saying, "That's the style!"

Remember the Governor's meeting at the city park on Monday evening.

And don't forget the Chamber of Commerce luncheon Tuesday evening.
President Pike has some important matters for discussion.

We note from one of our exchanges that Chase's portrait is to appear on the new $10,000 bills Uncle Sam is issuing. We didn't know that His Honor, Our Mayor, had become so prominent.

How about boosting the football team a little. There was a good crowd out last Friday afternoon, but there was room for more. Let's all be there next Friday afternoon.

Things are warming up now. It is only 20 more days until the General Election. Of course, everybody will choose the winner, as usual.

How about a clean-up week for St.
Cloud? Our hundreds of visitors will be arriving soon, and as first impressions are said to be most lasting, let's put our best front forward and make our city more attractive.

Who was it that made that remark a few months ago that our lake would never again be as high as it had been?
Well, it is within a few inches of the high-water mark now, and still it rains. And our city engineer has been criticized severely for the grade established on the Lakewood Boulevard.
We may yet wish that he had raised it a few inches higher.

Work is progressing on the addition to the municipal power plant. The Public Utilities Commission and City Manager Working are to be commended for the splendid results obtained during the past thirty days. This has been an eye-sore to the community for many a day, but sure, long will doubtless make it "a place of beauty"
in the near future, after building operations are completed.

MR. J. M. RHINE RETURNS FROM WEST PALM BEACH

J. M. Rhine, chairman of the St.
Cloud Disaster Relief Committee with Mrs. Rhine, returned Sunday from West Palm Beach, where he went Friday to take another donation of $100 and a load of clothing for the St.
Cloud Red Cross chapter.

Mr. Rhine states that the situation in that section is now well in hand and that there is plenty of clothing at Red Cross headquarters there. According to Mr. Shaffner, who is in charge, the Red Cross is still feeding about 1200 people. In the Okecho-bee region the Red Cross is looking after the repair of farm tractors and homes, and in furnishing seed to the farmers. Planting is going forward as fast as the ground dries out sufficiently. Everyone is sheltered at this time.

Reconstruction work is going forward rapidly, home people being given the preference in employment.

A man advertises that he wants a job, admitting he has been a burglar for several years and saying he wants to get into a legitimate line. His training would probably be valuable in a great many businesses!

Letters to the Editor

AN ADMITTED INJUSTICE TO PETER TOMASELLO

In the open letter addressed to Peter Tomasello, Sr., by Milton Pledger as published in this paper, Mr.
Pledge has discovered that he made an error and has acknowledged it in a letter to Mr. Tomasello on the 6th inst.

A copy of the letter follows:

"October 6, 1928.
Mr. Peter Tomasello, Sr.,
Kissimmee, Florida.
Dear Sir:

"I have just realized that I did you an injustice in my open letter to you of October 3rd, 1928, in that the same carried an inference that you took office as county commissioner in January, 1926, when in fact you did not go into office January, 1927; and as a result you, personally, was not responsible for the unlawful expenditure of but $875.00 of the tax payers money toward the salary of a "round cow." The total amount of $2375.00,
—and more—, was unlawfully expended, but all except the $875.00 was done before you became a member.

"It is my purpose to defeat you upon your official record, but I have no intent or desire to be unjust to you.
If I cannot obtain the results I desire by the facts I do not deserve the success I am striving for. I am therefore hastening to advise that I have discovered the above stated error, occasioned entirely by a fallible decision in mental calculation, and to acknowledge it to you.

"I assure you that I regret the incident exceedingly and will endeavor to give this as much publicity as my other letter, and as much as others that will follow.

Yours very truly,
MILTON PLEDGER."

Kissimmee, Florida,
October 9, 1928.

Mr. Editor:

In Re: The Economy of Peter Tomasello, Sr.

I have it on the authority of a majority of the members of the county commissioners that Mr. Tomasello advocates a change in the 1927 law that is applicable to Osceola county alone, which provides that the commissioners be paid salaries of $100.00
a month in lieu of all other compensation, so as to provide a salary of $100.00 a month and pay them mileage.
This for economy.

Now let's see how this economy works. A member told me there were from three to six meetings of the board every month. All members but Mr. Tomasello live not over nine miles from Kissimmee. There is one in Kissimmee and two, we will say, live 7 miles away and one 4 1/2 miles. The member here in town would get no mileage. The one 4 1/2 miles away would receive, at the rate of 10c a mile, 90c a meeting mileage; the one 9 miles away would receive $1.50 each per meeting, and Mr. Tomasello, who lives 45 miles away, would receive $9.00 a meeting. To strike an average of meetings of the board for each month in the year, we will say, is five meetings. Then, five mileages of $9.00 each would appear to make $45.00 a month for mileage alone, which added to $90.00 salary, indicates a total income of $135.00 a month all the year around. Now contrast this as against the member living at the county site who, perforce, because he is here, will have to give a lot of time to consultation with people having business with the county when there is no meeting, gets $60.00 a month for his paid. Mr. Tomasello because he lives so far away will seldom, if ever, be bothered with a conference between meetings. The next highest man at five meetings a month at $1.50 mileage each, would receive $9.00 total mileage, which, added to $90.00 makes $99.00 a month, while the poor devil who lives four and a half miles out at one meeting would get a total salary and mileage of $64.50.

This would be SOME economy, if you asked me.

Evidently he must believe in the kind of economy that calls for the other fellow to do all the "putting"
while he does all the "taking."

If it were possible that the law had provided that 10 per cent of the salary paid by the boards of county commissioners to registration officers should go to the member of the board who lived furthest from the court house, I wonder if it ever would have occurred to him to suggest that the salary of that officer be cut half in two, even if a woman had been elected by the people to fill it.

MILTON PLEDGER.

FORMER RESIDENTS RETURN TO ST. CLOUD

Mrs. Grace Ashton and daughter, Miss Evelyn Ashton, who formerly lived at Michigan avenue and Twelfth street, this city, arrived from their home in New York City and are visiting with old friends.

Mrs. Ashton plans to spend the winter in St. Cloud, but Miss Ashton, who is in charge of the surgical ward in a prominent New York hospital, expects to return and resume her duties after a short visit here.

ST. CLOUDLETS

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Bassett will move to West Palm Beach Sunday.

E. T. Minor, of Kissimmee, was a St. Cloud visitor last Saturday.

Perry's Barber Shop and Beauty
Parlor, Hunter Arms Building, 25-47

Errol Mallory and Miss Mabel Mallory and Mrs. and Mrs. E. O. Rex have returned to St. Cloud.

Fred Shepard, who has been spending the summer at Wallon Lake, Mich., expects to return to St. Cloud soon.

Why Sleep at the Switch?

Why is St. Cloud sleeping when time and opportunity are rapidly going by? Can strawberries be grown successfully on this soil? Go to Plant City and see. Hundreds are growing rich raising them on identically the same soil. Can we raise cucumbers?
Go to Winter Garden and investigate. Can we raise celery? Make a trip to Sanford. How about cabbage, lettuce, peppers, eggplant, potatoes, parsnips, in fact anything. All these and more are grown in Florida and in all directions from St. Cloud in great abundance.
The only difference between these great producing centers and St.
Cloud is the EFFORT put forth. Is it not worth an effort? Go to the Tourist Club House Monday evening, and you will go home convinced that it can be done. You will go home convinced that there is an immediate future for St. Cloud. You will go home revived in spirit and hope. You will go home determined to lend every assistance to those who are so determined to see us go forward.

The Cycle of Three

There is a big difference in cause and magnitude between a disaster resulting from failure of manpower or man-made contrivance and a disaster coming from a visitation of Nature. We feel that all Florida may take heart from a bit of homely belief that prevails regarding wrecks in the railroad world, that "things come by threes."

Happily (only in the sense that it means that the cycle of three has been completed) Florida has had her third "big blow." Even though many of us will deny the existence of superstition in our natures, generally we are not unwilling to bask in the sun of security afforded by a saying or an adage.

Florida take heart! The September equinoctial has passed into history, leaving the promise of twelve months of life-giving sunshine on the Nation's Youtland. You are now entering an era of progress and content, fostered by Nature in her lightest, happiest mood—H. V. S. Negus, Manager Travel and Resorts,
The News, New York's Picture Newspaper.

Bury the Hatchet

St. Cloud has just passed through a political conflict, the like of which has never been seen in this community. There has been much bitterness, hatred and malice on the part of both factions.
Families have been divided, neighbors are no longer friendly toward each other, and this feeling has grown until even some of our churches and fraternal organizations are having their troubles.

This is not as it should be. St. Cloud has long been known as "The Friendly City," where the stranger was always welcomed with a hearty hand-clasp. But she is fast losing the great heritage of friendliness that was born within the hearts of her pioneer citizens. It is time to "about face."

Perhaps the result of the recent election is not just as we all would have had it. Be that as it may. We have elected three men to serve us, and they should be given every co-operation by our citizens. And the best way in which this can be done, is to leave them alone, and let them work out a program to get our city affairs back on a sound business basis. The best business men in the world, can't accomplish anything if they are hampered in their efforts by the continued bickerings, back-biting and quarrels of those who should be their supporters.

Let's resolve that we will bury the hatchet. Many unkind words have been spoken in the heat of anger, but we should forgive and try to forget. If, in the days to come, the same amount of effort is put forth in co-operation for the advancement of our city, that has been expended in our political strife of the past few months, St. Cloud will again take her place among the progressive communities of this fair State, and the Spirit of Friendliness will again prevail.

T.O. HOLLIDAY VISITS AT DENVER AFTER LONG ABSENCE

T. O. Holliday, of St. Cloud, Fla., and Proport, Ohio, was a delegate to the National G. A. R. Encampment at Denver, Colo., recently. This was his first visit to the scene of his former military activities in sixty-three years.

Speaking of Mr. Holliday's visit,
The Denver Post, says:

Sixty-three years ago this summer a 17-year-old lad rode from Colonel Morgan's military headquarters at Sixteenth and Larimer streets in Denver to the camp of the Eleventh Ohio cavalry stationed at Fort Laramie, Wyo., with military dispatches relating to the fall campaign of that unit.

That lad, Theodore O. Holliday, of Proport, O., now gray haired and 82 years old, returned to Denver a few days ago for the first time to attend the G. A. R. encampment.

Theodore had to run away from home to join the army. His plans at home had met with firm refusal, but after news of the battle of Shiloh had reached his home, along with an official dispatch that his brother, Thomas, had been one of the first men slain, he slipped away and went to Omaha, Neb., where he enlisted.

Before his regiment was ordered to Wyoming they patrolled Kansas territory, where on one occasion they came within an acre of nabbing Quantrell's riders, a famous southern cavalry unit. But Quantrill and his men had the pick of horse-flesh from the entire country and soon outdistanced
the Union men.

Mr. Holliday, who claims he still can "show these young fellows a thing or two," has in his possession a scalp from a Sioux chief and a number of ornaments taken from the body. The chief, when killed, Holliday said, was carrying a bow that had on it nineteen notches, indicating that many white men slain.

"This Indian was using an army rifle," Holliday said, "and had an army Smith & Wesson revolver in his belt. I gave these weapons to an Apache chief we called Friday and the only Indian I ever saw in the Rockies that you could trust."

The Eleventh cavalry was one of the army units that assisted in the building of Fort Collins, Colo.

ILLEGAL TO WRITE LESS THAN $1.00 CHECKS

WEST PALM BEACH, Sept. 18.—
It's against the federal law to write a check for any amount of money less than one dollar. This fact was dug up here by Paul W. Potter, local attorney, while searching through some musty law records. A penalty of $500, or six months, is provided. Local legal authorities said the law is being violated daily all over the country, as few persons know of its existence.

OSCEOLA COUNTY GETS GOVERNMENT DIP- PING VATS

At a meeting of the gentlemen of South Florida, held this week in Aren-dia, at which time a conference was held with government officials, it was agreed to locate one of the two government dipping vats and cattle pens to be located in the state in Osceola county. The agreement had been reached on Arendia for the first cattle pens from which interstate shipments of cattle could be made, and a large delegation from Osceola and Orange counties attending the meeting this week succeeded in having Osceola county, probably near Kissimmee, being selected for the other government shipping point.

For some time cattle could only be shipped from Jacksonville after stock had been handled for many days going through the dipping process for out of state shipments, but that was not only a hardship on South Florida cattlemen, but was inadequate to meet the needs of the cattle raisers.

HON. GROSVENOR DAWE VISITED ST. CLOUD TUESDAY

Hon. Grosvenor Dawe, of Tallahassee, was a business visitor in St. Cloud Tuesday, in connection with the good work he is doing for the state. The industrial survey made by Mr. Dawe for Florida and published recently was the most comprehensive report of Florida conditions and resources ever put together in one volume and is of much value to the state.

POSTERS RETURN HERE AFTER A YEAR'S ABSENCE

Dr. May Puckett Foster and daughter, Miss Mary, of Kokomo, Ind., former residents of St. Cloud, arrived in the city last night to spend several months. They are at their home on Fifteenth Street and Kentucky avenue, where they found some little repairs
necessary as a result of two summer storms which occurred during their long absence from the city.

Their many friends will be delighted to welcome them to the city again.
Both were connected with the Tribune
the last year of their stay in St. Cloud.
Mrs. Foster last year returned to her old home in Indiana on account of the failing health of her father, Dr. J. L.
Puckett, who later died. Mrs. Puckett, Mrs. Foster's mother, accompanied them to St. Cloud where she expects to spend the winter.

HERE'S HOW OF HISTORIC HOOPS

STUDIO SHARPS SAY STYLE STARTED BY SOLVING PETTICOAT PUZZLE

And where did hoop skirts come from?

That was the question asked by Norma Shearer when she was fitted for her costumes in the filming of "The Actress," her latest Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer starring coming to the Palm Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday.

The studio research department, investigating the authenticity of the costumes used during the screening of the film, an adaptation of Arthur Wing Pinero's "Trelawney of the Wells," provided the answer.

It seems that away back in 1830 milady wore eight or ten petticoats to fill out her voluminous skirts after the fashion of the day. Poor girls, however, could not afford so many undergarments.

Piecing together steel corset stays, the working girls improvised "hoops" that puffed out their skirts to stylish proportions. Dressmakers saw the attractiveness of the necessitated innovation and henceforth "hoop-skirts" became the vogue.

Miss Shearer and Gwen Lee, Virginia Pearson and Andree Tourneur, who support her in the picture, say the felt lost when they got back to the modern skimpy gowns after working all day in crinolines. Ralph Forbes plays opposite Miss Shearer in the great Pinero drama of old English life. The supporting cast is a notable one, including G. F. Smith, Ray Farrow, Effie Ellsler, Cyril Chadwick, Owen Moore, Les Moran and others.

FOR COMMISSIONER
FOR DIST. NO. 5

The announcement of Randolph Young as an independent candidate for county commissioner for District No. 5 of Osceola county has been made, and appears elsewhere in this paper. Mr. Young was born in Kissimmee, Osceola county, in 1887, and is the son of George Young who moved to Kissimmee in 1885 from Worth county, Georgia. He was educated in the public schools of Osceola county and was appointed postmaster at Whitfield, Fla., in 1923, his appointment being made under civil service examination. He held the office with a good record until his disaffiliation and consolidation with Kennesaw.

Mr. Young is engaged at the present time in farming and has been so with few exceptions for the past 20 years. During the year of 1900 he made his home in St. Cloud, where he was engaged in the business of drycleaning, waiting on the old soldiers, and delivering on some days as many as 30 trunks. He then went to Tampa, where he spent a couple of years before returning to his old home and engaged in the merchandising business for three years. While in Tampa he was employed by the Tampa Electric Company, where he left a clear record.

In 1914 Mr. Young began working for the Atlantic Coast Line railroad, and eventually was named as a fireman in Jacksonville, where he moved and became employed in the construction of the Jacksonville Terminal Yards.

Mr. Young came back to Osceola county five years ago and engaged again in farming. He is married and has seven daughters and two sons, and is considered among the more efficient farmers of his community.

Mr. Young says he is asking the support of the voters of Osceola county under the pledge that he will render the very best service possible for him to give to all, and that he will work hard and faithfully to discharge such duties without showing partiality or favor, but acting for the best interest of all, if elected.

A postmaster at Detroit reports that among the applications he has received for jobs as letter carriers is one from a college professor, who wants to carry letters after spending nearly a dozen years as a teacher.—Chenoweth Sun.

SPIRITUAL GIFTS

TEXT: 1 Cor. 12:4-7; 12:1-8, 13.

The Corinthian church was rich in gifted people, yet Paul found scandalous conditions existing. We need to be reminded that gifted church members may be utterly out of divine favor. Divinely given talents may be greatly abused. Gifts without spiritual life are worse than useless to God. It was this condition of things at Corinth that called forth chapters 12, 13 and 14 of this first epistle.

Concerning spiritual gifts, brethren, he begins, "I would not have you ignorant." They had formerly been carried away by idol worship. The text verse would seem to indicate that in their heathen ecstasies they had expressed themselves in some of the same manifestations now cropping out in the Christian church at Corinth. Is it possible that one may work himself into such a state of mind, whether heathen or Christian, that his faculties will be temporarily suspended and he will, unmanageable strange things? The three chapters that follow would indicate this danger and it is a well-known fact that some modern "longue" manifestations are not unlike what may be witnessed in heathen lands today. It is, therefore, imperative to have some tests of true and false spirits in the church. In these chapters Paul clearly lays down the tests of good and evil.

It is recorded that some strange things happened in the early church. Some at Corinth were carried away by what they called "the power of the Spirit," and yet in these instances they actually blasphemed Christ. Similar cases have been known in "tongues meetings" in recent years. Paul, in v. 3, meets this very situation. "I give you to understand that no man speaking by the Spirit of God calleth Jesus accursed: and that no man can say that Jesus is Lord, but by the Holy Ghost."

Here is one sure way to distinguish the voice of the Holy Spirit from the voice of an evil spirit. The Spirit-taught believer is certain to assert the supreme Lordship of Jesus Christ and to honor Him in every way. One who is led of the Holy Spirit cannot utter lies, nor can he speak without edifying others in regard to Christ.

There are diversities of gifts, but the same Spirit (v. 4). God has acted with the souls of men as He has with the different countries of the earth. He might have given all kinds of fruits and flowers to all lands, but if each land did not need the products of others, fellowship between peoples would be destroyed. Hence to one, God gives what another has not, so that we may be united by communicating our blessings. Through there are essential differences in our lives, there is also in true Christians an essential unity, for "the same Spirit" uses us.

There are differences of administration, but the same Lord (v. 5). This suggests that all gifts involve ministerial service. They are not for private ecstasy. "The manifestation of the Spirit" (v. 7) is given in every case "to profit withal"—that is, for the blessing of others. God's gifts are not for selfish enjoyment, but to be used to edify others. Here is an important test of spiritual gifts.

Paul enumerates some of the "signs" men are enabled to manifest the Spirit for the common good. We discover three series: intellectual gifts (v. 8); miraculous gifts (vs. 9-10); gifts connected with tongues (v. 10). The only passage where Paul refers to "gifts of healing" is v. 9 and "gifts" if plural, indicating that different kinds of cases would require different methods of healing. There is no one method of healing. All human skill is of God. Some cases are beyond human skill, and where it is for God's glory He may miraculously heal in answer to the prayer of faith. Such faith, remember, is not pumped up, but given by the Spirit (v. 9) and always operates in harmony with the will of God.

All these worketh the selfsame Spirit, dividing to every man severally as He will (v. 11). If this were understood, people would not be seeking a certain gift because someone else has manifested it. Our great concern should be, not to have the Spirit manifest as we will, but to give ourselves to Him and leave the manifesting to His will.

There is no more reason why all should have the same experience than that every member of the body should perform the same functions (v. 12). The truth of the Church as Christ's Body is made clear in Eph. 4:15 and 1:23. The basis of unity in the Body is shown in v. 13. "By one Spirit we are all baptized into one body..."

and have been made to drink into one Spirit." Regardless of how the Spirit chooses to manifest Himself in individuals, to be "born of the Spirit" is to be united to the Body of Christ.

Baptism into the one body" has to do with our union with Christ. It is that which brings us into the fellowship of Christ's Body, the Church. The "baptism in the Holy Ghost" was spoken of by John the Baptist in forecasting Pentecost (Mt. 3:11). It was mentioned again by our Lord in the same connection (Acts 1:5). It occurred at Pentecost accompanied by a manifestation of fire as John had predicted. It was not repeated, except in a limited way when Gentiles were first united to the Body (Acts 19). We are not to seek a repetition of the "Pentecostal baptism." Paul speaks of baptism by the Spirit into the one body in the past tense. Henceforth as each, by faith, is united to Christ, he instantly participates in the original baptism which formed the Body, the Church.

Let us lay hold of this great truth. To be seeking some great manifestation as at Pentecost, is to be looking for a past event. Instead of looking for signs and thrills, let us yield ourselves to the Spirit who already dwells within, allowing Him to fill our lives and manifest His power through us in blessing to others.

The closing section of chapter 12 draws important lessons from the human body as a type of Christ's Body, the Church. God, who bound the world into the great harmony by its very diversities, has arranged for the same end in His Church by giving the different members different faculties of service. Each one with his different gifts contributes something to the beauty of the whole structure.

If there is any particular gift that believers are to seek, it is the best one—the one above all others, the one which will bring out our greatest gifts (v. 31). Love is the most startling element in the Christian religion. Love without other gifts will, in the long run, do more than gifts without love. Chapter 13 is an encyclopedia of love. If Christians generally lived in this chapter, it would be a different world.

James H. Brooks says: "This is the only chapter in Paul's epistles which does not directly mention the Lord Jesus in one or more of His names or titles. Yet this is no exception to the rule, for he here draws a portrait of the Master so exquisite in coloring, so lovely in its lineaments, no one can fail to recognize the striking likeness even without the name attached." Christ is the embodiment of love and we may fittingly insert the name "Jesus" in every place where we find the word "charity" in this chapter.

The word "charity" is translated gift in Corinth, so Paul begins by showing that one might talk in angelic languages and yet be as sounding brass (13:1)—pieces of metal hammered together. There is much noise in some churches, but what that resembles the work of love, is going on?

The "gift of prophecy" (v. 2) without love amounts to no little that the speaker is compared to a cipher with the ring rubbed out—"nothing" nonentity. A great Bible knowledge, untempered with love, recommends no man to God. Even a miracle-working faith, making one the leader of multitudes, if without love is of little avail.

A lavish hand without a loving heart (v. 3) amounts to nothing. We could give our last dollar for humanitarian work and not gain the notice of the humblest angel. One could even make a martyr of himself (v. 3) and not have the love here described. There are many willing to die who are not willing to live for Christ.

Love is now described. It "suffereth long" (v. 4)—"hath a long mind"—a mind that does not soon come to impatience. It has no unkind hours or last acts of kindness. It does not envy, and so turn happiness into sorrow and grief. It does not push itself forward. The man ruled by love does not make a bee-line for the front seat as though it belonged to him. He will sit down anywhere, and without show, he is not "puffed up." He puts on no airs to embarrass others.

Love affects behavior (v. 5). It brings out taste and tact in the finer points of conduct. "Love seeketh not her own." Self is written large everywhere today. It is the great idol many worship. Love is not thinking over of personal comfort and advancement. Love is "not provoked." The word "easily" is not in the original. Love does not "fly off the handle." It is not super-sensitive, touchy. "Love thinketh no evil." Many are gentlemen at explaining the motives of others. They know just why others stand up or sit down and it is rarely that it is for a good reason.

Love does not dwell upon evil (v. 6) and roll it up as a sweet morsel under the tongue. Love never makes one feel good over the downfall of another. Love rejoices in the triumph of the truth. In what do we find our greatest satisfaction?

"Love endureth"—endures and suffers trying things. The word "endureth" has a different meaning. It is the word found in Mt. 2:1 and means "over-see." A roof keeps the storm off from those inside. Love leads us to shelter, not expose, others, unless the public good demands it (Prov. 10:12). Love seeks to restore the fallen, not publish their faults (Gal. 6:1). Love is "eager to believe the best." It "hopes for the best."

"Love never faileth" (v. 8). Gifts of ecstasy and knowledge are rudimentary. As we grow in grace we will discover that there is something bigger than thrills, something far beyond a mere head knowledge of the fundamental truths. Love is more vital to the spread of Christianity than anything else, yet what a dearth of it there is in the church today! Faith clings to the cross; hope leans on the promise of His coming; love carries the burdens of others in the heat of the day. These three must "abide" (v. 13) or Christianity becomes a form without life.

The words rendered "spiritual gifts" (12:1) are literally "spiritualia," meaning "matters of the Holy Spirit." We must have a correct understanding of the relations of our talents to the Holy Spirit.

The word "led" in 12:2 is a strong word, meaning "driven." There was some irresistible compulsion, like an external force, which had caused them to be so enthusiastic in idol worship.

In 12:3 the words, "Jesus is the Lord," should read: "No man can say Lord Jesus [that is, from the heart] but by the Holy Ghost."

"Wisdom" refers to deep spiritual insight, an understanding of how to apply knowledge. "Knowledge" may mean simply an intellectual appreciation of Christian doctrine (12:3).

The word "prophecy" in 12:10 and as used in the New Testament, does not signify "foretelling" but "forth-telling"—exhorting—revealing truth to others.

The word agape (charity or love) in chapter 13 is not the word for "love" used by heathen writers. It is love without any earthly or sensual taint, hence a divinely implanted love.

The Latin word caritas, meaning primarily "tolerance," rendered in our authorized version, "charity," was used as the rendering of the Greek word agape because the ordinary Latin word amor for love has a sensual taint. "Charity" has come to mean "liberality to the poor." We should go back to the Greek for the thought of divine love.

Suggestive Questions

What was the power back of idols that sometimes spoke through the worshippers? (12:2; cf. 10:19-20.)

What is the special work of the Holy Spirit? (12:3; cf. Jn. 13:26.)

What awaking was given very early to Christians? (1 Jn. 4:1.)

Were the "gifts of healing" (12:9) always the same even in the same person? (Acts 19:12; 28:3.)

When does the experience of "drinking into one Spirit" (12:13) take place? (Jn. 7:37-39.)

Whom was Paul following in proclaiming love the one thing needful? (12:1; cf. Jn. 13:35.)

Golden Text Illustration

New abideth faith, hope, love, these three; and the greatest of these is love (1 Cor. 13:13).

Huxley tells us that in the soil of England lies buried millions of tropical seeds brought there by the birds and the winds. Here are tropical potencies awaiting a tropical atmosphere without which they cannot come forth. If England could have twelve months of tropical heat, her gardens would bloom with tropical luxuriance, and the towers and fountains lying hidden in the church at Ely, in the church awaiting the atmosphere of divine love in order to bring these forth for the service of mankind? Certain it is that when the Spirit of God has a chance to shed His love abroad in hearts, the result is a luxuriant crop of deeds of Christlike service to others, and gifts we little knew we had spring into bloom.

ABSENTEES MAY VOTE

Florida voters who may be absent from their home county, or out of the state on election day may cast absentee ballots at the county judge's office from Monday, October 22, through Friday, November 2. Ballots may also be cast on these dates by persons who expect to be outside the county but within the state on election day, or they can vote in any precinct in the state by applying to the inspectors at any polling place on the dates appointed and leaving a sealed ballot, which will be sent back to the county judge.

HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS NEED PARENTAL
ASSISTANCE*EDUCATOR CLAIMS THAT TOO
MANY FATHERS AND MOTHERS ARE NAGGING

By FRANK W. HUBBARD,

Assistant Director of Research Division
National Educational Assn.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—The fact that given advice is one of the most important needs of high school boys and girls.

Adolescents have always received an abundance of advice, but too often it has been anything but useful. Much of it has become mere "nagging." The new education provides in an organized manner. Such advice is called guidance, for education is guided growth.

Guidance became prominent in schooling because of the apparent waste of efforts and opportunities by so many pupils. Educators became interested in the cases of pupils taking wrong courses, discouraged young folk, failures in scholastic work. Many of these difficulties have been eliminated and new problems have been prevented through the development of systematic guidance.

A school guidance program is not enough. Individual pupils have desires and ambitions that are not known to the teachers. Parents usually have hope for their children that are never discussed outside the family circle. This condition has a danger in that the home and school may work at cross-purposes with each other.

The whole problem is important enough to demand time and careful consideration on the part of parents. Father and mother need to study their children in the activities about the home and to help each child with respect to his individual personality.

Parents should visit the school at intervals—just as regularly as they visit the physician or dentist for consultation—to discuss with interested teachers and school officers the problems of vital concern to their children. After these conferences open up new understandings between parent and teachers and give the latter a wealth of information that will work to the advantage of the whole school program.

Meetings of parent-teacher associations provide splendid opportunities to ask questions and secure information directly from those who are actively engaged in the work of teaching and school administration.

All of these helps are offered to the parent who is interested in being thoroughly successful in performing his or her responsibility toward the child.

A Trip to the Tropics

PORTO RICO
THE BEAUTIFUL
By W. C. Pearce

Porto Rico, a beautiful island which was ceded to the United States by Spain in 1898, is the smallest but relatively the most densely populated island of the great Antilles. Within an area of 3,600 square miles it has a population of about 1,000,000.

Its principal products are coffee, sugar-cane and tobacco. Its minerals comprise gold, quicksilver, iron, manganese, garnets, agates and fine crystals of quartz in large varieties, but nowhere in large amounts, but gold was mined by the early Spanish settlers.

The island was discovered by Columbus in 1493 and conquered by Ponce de Leon in 1508. Porto Rico was almost entirely neglected by Spain, or used as a penal settlement until the beginning of the 19th century. In 1870 Porto Rico ceased to be a colony and became a province of Spain with all the rights and privileges of the "home departments" with representatives in the Cortes by universal suffrage.

San Juan, on the north side, the capital, is the oldest place on the island dating from the year 1521. The harbor is approached by a narrow channel navigable for large vessels, and is formed by a spacious land-locked bay with a good depth of water.

The old town is enclosed by picturesque ramparts and was defended by forts, castles and stout fortresses. It is built out in regular squares with well kept streets, many of which are lined with shade trees and flanked by one fine structure, such as the Casa Blanca, the Custom House, the Cathedral and several churches.

From San Juan, a white shell road, built by prisoners, runs across the island to Ponce on the south side, the next place of importance.

Before the middle of the 18th century there were few urban groups in Porto Rico, the people dwelling in the most part in scattered hamlets, gathering only on feast days at open-air meetings in some central point of the parish, but since then more than half of the inhabitants have grouped themselves in large villages and towns.

There are upwards of fifty places now with populations ranging from 8,000 to 40,000 most of them connected by railways.

There are some blacks and mulattoes on the island but the white outnumber both.

Notice of Election
Whereas, the Legislature of 1922, under the Constitution of 1901, of the State of Florida, did pass four Joint Resolutions proposing amendments to the Constitution of the State of Florida, and the same were agreed to by a vote of three-fifths of all the members elected to each house; that the voters at said Joint Resolutions were entered upon their respective Journals, with the yeas and nays thereon, and they did determine and direct that the said Joint Resolutions be submitted to the electors of the State at the General Election in November, 1924.

Now, therefore, I, H. Clay Crawford, Secretary of the State of Florida, do hereby give notice that a General Election will be held in such county in Florida on Tuesday next succeeding the first Monday in November, A. D. 1924, the said Tuesday being the 12th day of November, for the election of electors to the said Joint Resolutions proposing amendments to the Constitution of the State of Florida, viz:

A JOINT RESOLUTION Proposing an Amendment to Section 24 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Florida, relating to County and Municipal Governments.

Be it Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

That the following amendment to Section 24 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Florida, relating to County and Municipal Governments, is hereby agreed to and shall be submitted to the electors of the State at the next general election of Representatives in 1924, for approval or rejection.

Section 24. The Legislature shall establish a uniform system of County and Municipal governments which shall be applicable except in cases where local or special laws for Counties are provided by the Legislature that may be inconsistent therewith. The Legislature shall by general law classify cities and towns according to population, and shall by general law provide for their incorporation, government, jurisdiction, powers, duties and privileges under such classification; and no special or local laws incorporating cities or towns, providing for their government, jurisdiction, powers, duties and privileges shall be passed by the Legislature.

A JOINT RESOLUTION Proposing an Amendment to Article III, Section 24, of the Constitution of the State of Florida, relating to the Passage by the Legislature of Special Laws.
Be it Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

That the following amendment to Section 24 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Florida, relating to the Passage by the Legislature of Special Laws, is hereby agreed to and shall be submitted to the electors of the State at the next general election of Representatives in 1924, for approval or rejection.

Section 24. In all cases enumerated in the preceding section all laws shall be general and of uniform operation throughout the State, but in all cases not enumerated or excepted in this section, the Legislature may pass special laws, except as now or hereafter otherwise provided in the Constitution. Provided, That no local or special bill shall be passed, unless notice of the subject of such bill shall have been published in the locality where the matter or thing to be affected may be situated, which notice shall state the substance of the bill, and shall be published at least thirty days prior to the introduction into the Legislature of such bill, and is the manner to be provided by law. The evidence that such notice has been published shall be established by the Legislature, and which such affidavit constituting proof of publication shall be entered in full upon the journals of the Senate and of the House of Representatives, which entries shall immediately follow the journal entry showing the introduction of the bill. Provided, however, no publication of any local or special law is required hereunder when such local or special law contains a provision to the effect that the same shall not become operative or effective until the same has been ratified or approved by a majority of the qualified electors participating in an election called in the territory affected by said special or local law.

A JOINT RESOLUTION Proposing an Amendment to Section 10 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Florida, relating to Education; Authorizing the Division of Counties into Special Tax Districts; Providing for the Election of School Trustees; Their Term of Office and Duties; and for the Levying and Collection of a District School Tax for School Purposes.

Be it Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

That Section Four (4), Article Three (3), of the Constitution of the State of Florida relating to the pay of members of the Senate and of the House of Representatives, shall be submitted to the electors of the State at the next general election of Representatives to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday of the month of November, A. D. 1924, and that said Section Four (4) shall be approved or rejected as follows: Senators and members of the House of Representatives shall be paid twelve dollars and fifty cents ($12.50) a day for each day of Session; and mileage to and from their homes to the seat of Government not to exceed ten cents (10c) a mile each way by the nearest and most practicable route.

This Amendment shall go into effect at midnight on December 31, 1924, without the necessity of Legislation.

The votes cast in compliance with said proposed amendments, yeas, nays, declarations and returns thereof, shall be subjected to the same regulations and restrictions as are provided by law for general elections in the State of Florida.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the Great Seal of the State of Florida, at Tallahassee, the 25th day of July, A. D. 1924.

H. CLAY CRAWFORD, Secretary of State.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

To the Citizens of Osceola County:
By reason of the handsome majority that I received at the time of my election to 1924 from my friends as well as the excellent cooperation that I have received from those, and newly made, friends during my term of office, coupled with the solicitation of these many friends I have decided to become a candidate to succeed myself as County Commissioner from District No. 4 in the general election to be held in November.

I wish to extend my sincere thanks for the splendid cooperation given me and to assure the taxpayers of Osceola County that I elected I shall give the duties of the office the same conscientious attention as I have in the past. In view of rendering an honest and economical administration that will bring about a reduction of taxes.

Your vote and support will be appreciated.

P. TOMARELLO, Jr.

FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER

Having been urged by a number of friends to run for County Commissioner of District No. 4 in the general election to be held in November, I have decided to announce myself a candidate on the independent ticket, subject to the vote of the citizens and voters of Osceola County. If elected I will give the duties of the office the same careful attention that I have given to my own business here in St. Cloud for the past eighteen years.

Your vote and support will be very much appreciated.

If elected I will give the duties of the office the same careful attention that I have given to my own business here in St. Cloud for the past eighteen years.

Your vote and support will be very much appreciated.

J. D. HARRIS, St. Cloud.

FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER

Having been urged by a number of friends to run for County Commissioner of District No. 4 in the general election to be held in November, I have decided to announce myself a candidate on the independent ticket, subject to the vote of the citizens and voters of Osceola County. If elected I will give the duties of the office the same careful attention that I have given to my own business here in St. Cloud for the past eighteen years.

VETERANS ASSOCIATION

The lesson-sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Material sense never helps mortals to understand Spirit, God. Through spiritual sense only, man comprehends and loves Deity. The various contradictions of the Science of Mind by the material senses do not change the unseen Truth, which remains forever intact." (p. 481).

The meeting was closed by the singing of the National anthem. There were forty-five present at this meeting.

A pickpocket, when arrested for practicing his art, said he was only doing so in an attempt to raise the money for his bail bond. That's what we call enterprise.
